THE PREM RAWAT FOUNDATION
PEACE EDUCATION PROGRAM

“This is our time. There is no ‘they’ that will bring peace to us. Peace is not going to come in a package or a box. The possibility of peace has already been given to every human being on earth. We can discover it and then create an environment where people can be free to feel that peace in their lives. It begins with each one of us.”

- Prem Rawat

The Peace Education Program

Introduction

The Peace Education Program (PEP) is a media-based educational program, created by The Prem Rawat Foundation. The purpose is to help participants to explore the possibility of personal peace and to discover inner resources — tools for living such as inner strength, choice, appreciation and hope.

The Peace Education Program consists of 10 hours of workshop material focused on a selection of core themes from Prem Rawat's international addresses. Each includes several video segments, times for reflection, and accompanying reading material. There is a workbook for each participant. There are no tests, as the program is about individual self-discovery — something that is unique for each person.

At the conclusion of the program, participants will be asked to share observations about what they learned, what they enjoyed, what challenged them and what could be improved about the program, using the form provided. Each participant will also be given a certificate of completion.

The Program

The program curriculum consists of a series of 10 themes, which correspond to the inner resources explored in the workshops. The workshops include short educational addresses on these themes by Prem Rawat. As a result of completing the Peace Education Program, participants should be able to:

- understand the possibility of personal peace
- discover inner resources such as hope, choice, and clarity
- see their innate value

The PEP curriculum includes:

- a manual for facilitators and a workbook for participants
- 10 DVDs and 10 illustrated articles on inner resource themes
- 6 supplemental videos
